

True Measure of a Man

Chapter 8

1. Why is it easy to live in the circumstances instead of following your vision?
2. How can we latch onto a vision that won't desert us when the circumstances deal us a bad hand?
3. What decisions should we be making in our lives as we finish the book?
What should we do with the information given to us by Simmons?
4. When does "information" become "action"?
